(b) two persons are partners if they are—

(i) spouses or civil partners of each other, or

(ii) in an intimate personal relationship with each other,

and “ex-partner” is to be construed accordingly,

(ii) if the committee is unable to reach a unanimous decision and the chair of the committee so decides, refer the question to the Scottish Ministers for their determination.

(2) A determination under subsection (1)(b) is to be based on—

(a) the likelihood of the review identifying lessons to be learned from the death or the circumstances leading up to it which would improve Scottish practice in—

(i) the safeguarding of those affected by abusive domestic behaviour, or

(ii) the promotion of the wellbeing of victims of abusive domestic behaviour, and

(b) whether any Scottish public authorities or voluntary organisations operating in Scotland were involved, or had the opportunity to be involved, in the circumstances leading up to the death.

(5) Where the committee satisfies itself that a death is not reviewable or determines that a review should not be carried out in respect of it (whether or not advice has been sought under subsection (4)), the Scottish Ministers may step in and direct the committee to secure the carrying out of a review in respect of the death.

(6) The chair of the committee must, when making a referral under subsection (1)(b)(ii) or seeking advice under subsection (4), provide the Scottish Ministers with such information within the chair's possession or control as the chair considers is likely to be of assistance to Ministers in the exercise of their functions under those subsections.

“voluntary organisation” means a body (other than a public authority), the activities of which are carried on otherwise than for profit.
